Section 2: Narrative Summary
Background As a result of the intense rainfall caused by the last 2 hurricanes (ETA and IOTA) that hit the Colombian Caribbean and the La Niña phenomenon from the Pacific Ocean: The rural area of the Antioqueño municipality of Dabeiba, in 4 of its villages: Dabeiba Vieja, Botón, Mohán and El Cajón,suffered a landslide of large proportions leaving more than 200 families without their homes, their belongings, their crops and their farmyard animals. On the morning of Sunday, November 15, DAPARD (Administrative Department of the System for the Prevention, Attention and Recovery of Disasters) reported that of the 16 people who were missing, eight were found alive "and they are in the five shelters that the municipality has set up for the affected people." Thus, the current tally of casualties of the torrential rains according to the Unified Command Post (PMU), is of 3 deceased and eight missing persons. Likewise, there are 497 affected people from 201 families, 20 injured, 67 homes destroyed and 104 damaged, 3 educational centers affected, as well as 5.5 kilometers of road affected.
Humanitarian Needs As a result of the coordination meetings held in the field, the Humanitarian Task Force of the Presbyterian Church of Colombia has detected pronounced gaps in the care received so far. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1 Aspects related to accommodation in public schools in the urban area of the city and some days of meals for the affected families, hospital medical care for the injured have been addressed 2. You notice a lot of anguish and cases of depression, especially in older adults and young people. 3. As a consequence of the total loss of their belongings, crops, and livelihoods, a recovery of their work tools is required(and a safe, permanent and voluntary return to their plots. In addition, community-based psychosocial support work and guaranteed basic sanitation will be important.
Capacity

1. The Presbyterian Church in Dabeiba has several years of experience in humanitarian response. And it has worked in coordination with ecumenical platforms such as DIPAZ in local humanitarian assistance to ex-combatants.
2. Dabeiba Viva Foundation (Presbyterian Church partner) has a team of volunteers trained to deal with emergencies by the Local Office of Risk Management. They handle Bio-security protocols and are committed to ACT Alliance protocols on quality and accountability. During the pandemic they have provided food security to more than 200 families.
3. We have two organizations from the ACT-Alliance Forum that have always worked with us: the LWF and DKH
4. We have carried out a needs assessment in the field, a basic census of the beneficiary population, we have provided food and protection in the shelters with our own resources and our staff.
