

Safety and Security

For all ACT Alliance humanitarian operations, it is essential to reference and link to the ACT Alliance Safety & Security Guidelines.

In humanitarian operations, security and safety must be integrated throughout. Essential safety and security steps include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Constant contextual and situational analysis identifying operational security risks and vulnerabilities while consistently applying mitigation measures.
- Clear articulation and training of all personnel on ACT Alliance safety and security procedures (including movement of personnel, curfews, critical incident management, emergency health, communications).
- Allocation of financial resources in the appeal budget for the equipment and personnel required for robust safety and security systems.
- Completion of an up-to-date safety and security plan specific to each humanitarian operation.
